Lewistown Contractor to Lead Statewide Association Board

The Montana Contractors Association is pleased to announce that Andy Mathison has been elected as its board president for 2022.

Mathison is owner and president of Casino Creek Concrete in Lewistown. He joined the company in 2000, and has been the owner since 2004. Mathison holds a Civil Engineering degree from Montana State University, Bozeman, and is certified as an ACI GRADE 1 Concrete Testing Tech and Storm Water Pollution Prevention Plan Administrator. Casino Creek was recently recognized with a Construction Excellence Award in the concrete category last month at the MCA Winter Convention. The Lewistown company has received eight such awards.

Mathison has been a board member for the MCA since 2017, and he represents the Association's concrete division. He replaces Marty Schuma of Dick Anderson Construction (Helena), as president.

The MCA membership also elected Bill Langlas of Langlas & Associates (Bozeman/Billings) as Vice President, and Cale Fisher of Riverside Contracting (Missoula) as Treasurer. The 2022 MCA board is comprised of the following members: Guy Slaybaugh, Century Companies (Lewistown); Keith Johnston, Mountain West Holding Co. (Butte); Hal Fuglevand, Knife River (Billings); Ryan Dunn, Martel Construction (Bigfork); Tyler Smith, Lakeside Excavation (Havre); Tyler McIntyre, PayneWest Insurance (Missoula); Michelle Cohens, Sletten Construction (Great Falls), and Ken Murphy, TMC, Inc. (Belgrade).

The MCA is a chapter of the Associated General Contractors of America, with 265 members. For more information contact David Smith, Executive Director david@mtagc.org 406-442-4162.
